

President's Letter

Hello everyone. You know, I always seem to start off with a comment about the weather (as if you don't know it for yourselves). Well, summer seems to be here. It's already hot enough for me and I'm sure it will only get hotter.

I am happy to say that our club is getting going again. The library will begin having meetings at their facility so we will be able to have our first meeting in August. Same time, same place. Second Tuesday at 7:00 PM. HOORAH!

Also, we are planning a ride and picnic. It will be a true picnic in which you will bring your own food and drink. It will be fun and a great chance to get back together. We will have details on that soon and will let you know.

Plans for the car show are coming along quite well. Many entries have already come in. It's going to be a good show. We, of course, still need more help. Please call me or email to sign up to help.

THE FUN OF BEING A DO-IT-YOURSELFER

I've been working on my Austin Healy recently, or should I say again (for the past 64 years). The differential had been leaking for a long time so I finally decided to remove it from the car and have the leak repaired. It's probably a 4 or 5 day job, but I've been working at it for several months. Even after I thought I had everything disconnected, it still took Bob Tusso and me several hours to get it out of the car. Then I had Karl (club member/ Red Rock Precision Motors) install new seals and gaskets. Bob helped me get it back in the car and I went about attaching it.

Finally, I finished all the work. The last step would be to bleed the brakes since the brakes lines had been disconnected. Although it wasn't ready to drive yet I decided to start it up since it hadn't been started in several months. It wouldn't run. It would fire up on starting fluid, but not on its own. I checked the fuel delivery. There wasn't any fuel flowing to the carbs. So I bought a new fuel pump, installed it and tried again. It still wouldn't run. Now it had flowing fuel, but had been sitting so long the carburetors were all gummed up. I had to take them apart and clean them. Now, with a new fuel pump and clean carburetors I hit the starting button and it fired right up.

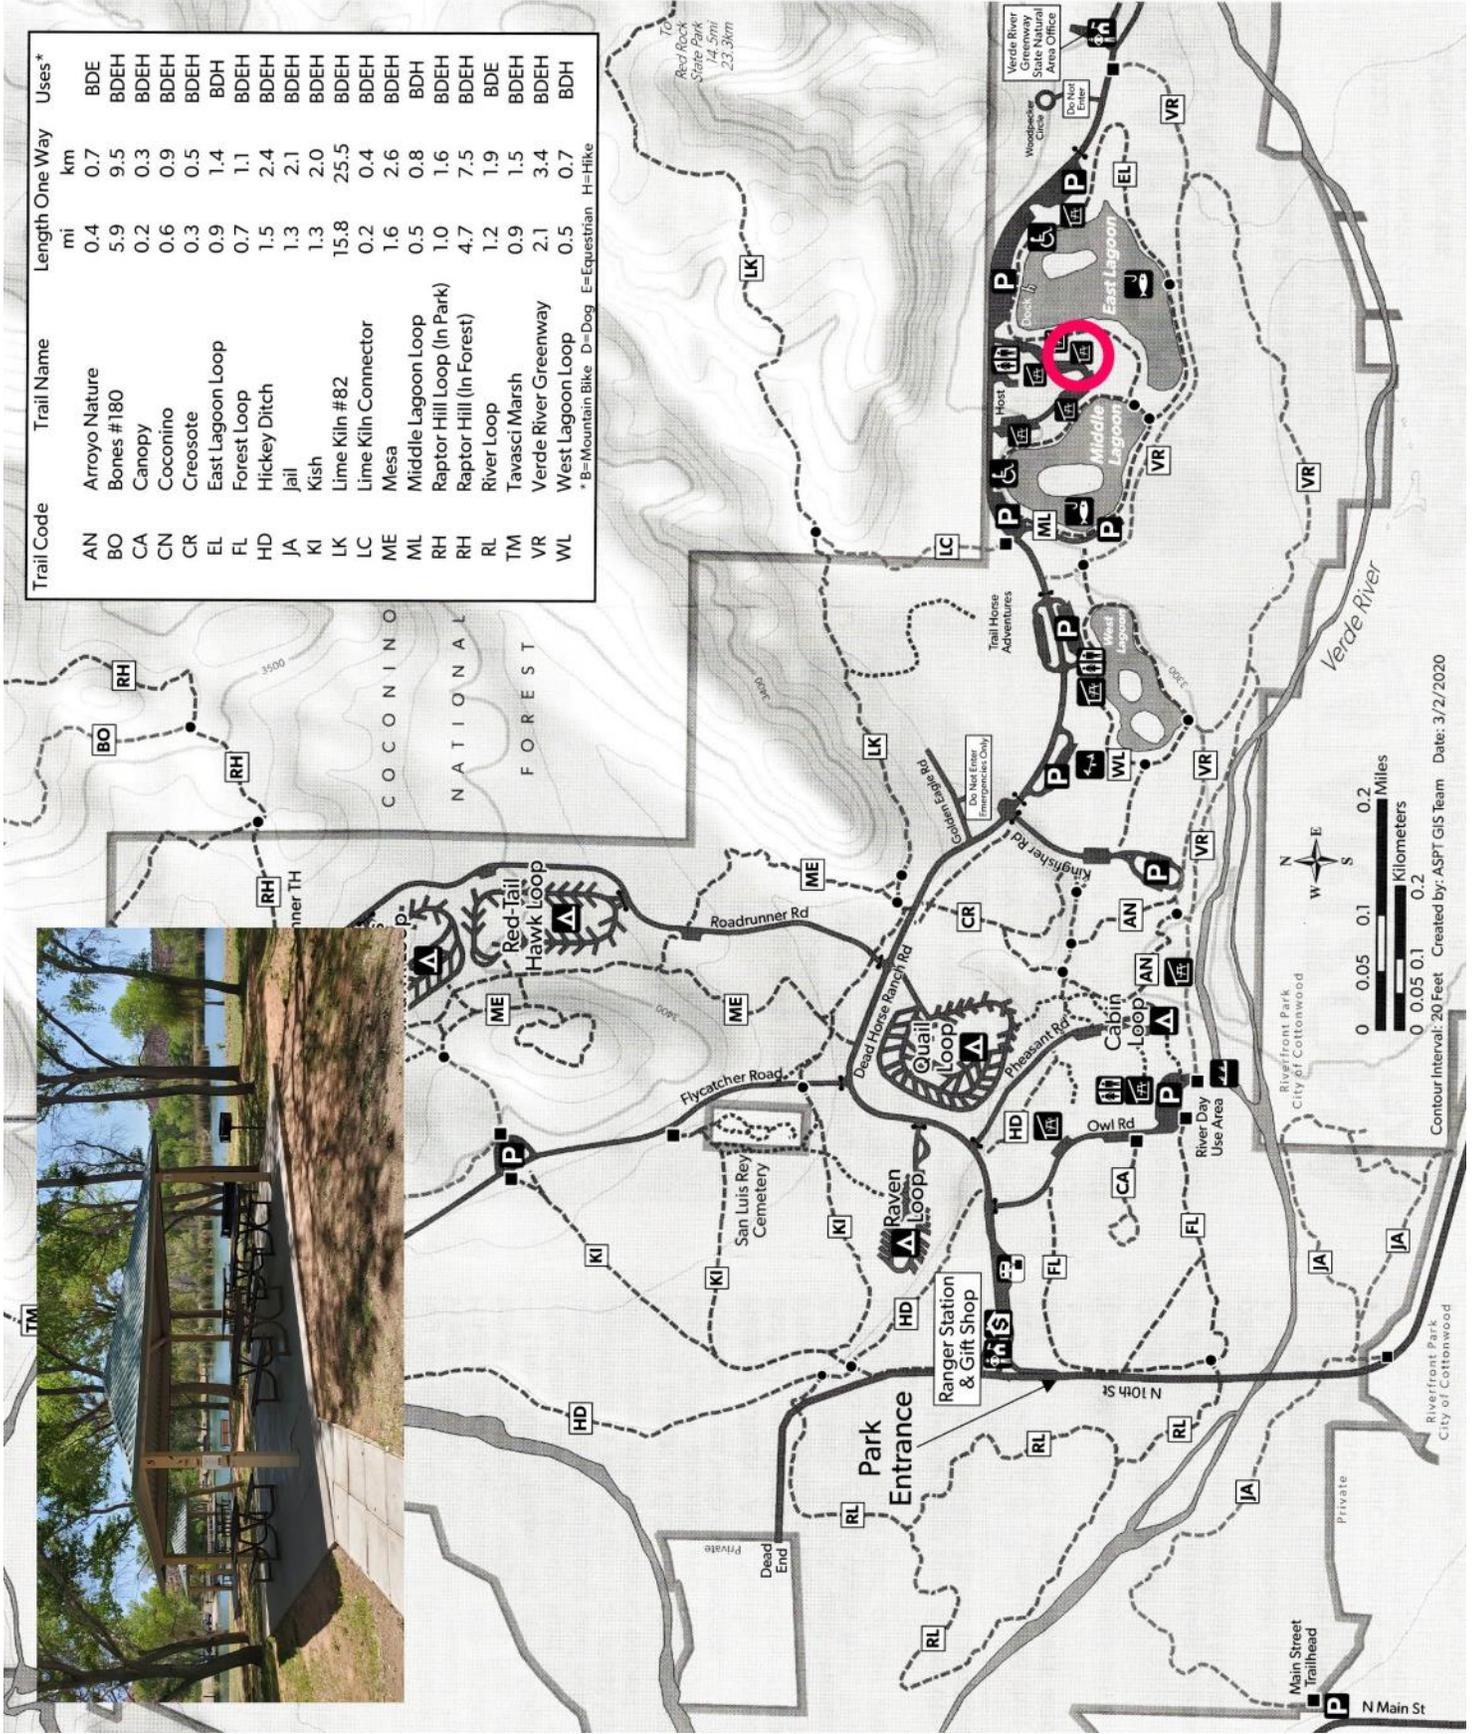

So at last, everything is back together and it is running good. The last step would be to bleed the brakes and take the car for a test drive. Rachel helped me bleed the brakes but said that the brake pedal was still almost to the floor. I determined that Karl had probably unadjusted the brake shoes to make it easier to get the brake drums off so he could take the axle apart. Not a big deal, but one more task before being finished.

Finally everything is finished. The axle is installed, together with what seemed like hundreds of bits and pieces. The new fuel pump is installed and the carbs are cleaned. The car is running and driveable. I backed out of the garage, drove through our yard and down the street. Mind you, this all involved the use of the brakes. Everything went great. Got to an intersection and applied the brakes and the pedal went right to the floor. No brakes! I slowly drove it home, using the handbrake when necessary and parked it in the garage. I'm not sure what happened. That will be my next adventure in this 64 year saga. It doesn't matter, I'm probably the world's most experienced Austin Healey mechanic. - DAVID
